

Present Dean's Honor Students At Convocation

Dr. J. D. Hicks Speaks To Honor Group; Turner Reviews School History

Seventy-two members of the dean's honor list and twenty outstanding honor students of the past ten years were honored at a special convocation which opened the anniversary celebration Monday.

Dr. J. D. Hicks, University of Wisconsin history professor, spoke on the "Responsibilities of Citizenship" at the convocation. Robert Turner gave a short review of the progress of the University, and Dean Edgar A. Holt presented the honor students.

In his discussion of the responsibilities of the citizen, Dr. Hicks pointed out that leadership is essential in a democracy, and that it is essential to the safety of the state that this leadership cut across class lines and come from the entire people.

He emphasized the importance of a knowledge of the history of America, for "you cannot possibly hope to understand the present except in its relationship to the past," he said.

"It is most important," Dr. Hicks declared, "that we test in the light of American history the procession of panaceas that will pass across the stage during our lifetime."

He warned against being taken in by "sure-cure" quacks who claim to have a complete cure for the ills of the nation, and pointed out the

Give Flight Awards At Commencement

The C.A.A. has announced that the twenty students taking flight training will receive their private pilot licenses at commencement exercises. To date only five of the twenty student pilots have had the flying time required to pass their flight test. It is hoped that the entire group will have completed the training by June first.

Gateway Suspension Due To Lack Of Funds

A shortage of funds made necessary the suspension of the last three issues of the Gateway, according to Robert Unmack, business manager.

Unmack cited rising costs of printing and a tremendous falling off of national advertising revenue as causes for the inability of the Gateway to stay within the allotment set by the allocation committee.

This issue and one to follow were made possible by the transfer of some funds from the Tomahawk budget.

May 18 Deadline For Camera Club Contest Entries

Deadline for entries in the third annual spring salon sponsored by the University Camera club has been set for May 18.

All students and faculty members are eligible to enter the competition for the 12 ribbon awards which will be given for first, second, and third places in the four classes. A "best of the show" award will be given to the best picture entered in any of the classes.

Pictures sent in must be 8 by 10 in size and mounted on 16 by 20 pebble board. There is a ten cent entry fee per picture, but no limit on the number of entries.

The classes are: 1. Pictorial, 2. Human interest, 3. Still Life, 4. Portraits.

Prints should be left in the bookstore before the final date.

Coleman Presents Paper at Math Meet

Mr. E. P. Coleman, instructor in mathematics, will present a paper on "A Certain One to One Correspondence" at the meeting of the Nebraska section of the Mathematical Association of America, Saturday at the Creighton University Arts and Science building. University of Omaha students who are interested in mathematics may attend the meeting, which will begin at ten a. m.

Election of Student Council, Board Members, Ma-ie Day Princess Monday in Game Room

Ma-ie Day Festivities Have Parade, Shows, Anderson For Dance

A colorful parade, a blood-curdling baseball game, a stage show, and a dance at Peony Park are some of the plans for the joint Freshman Day and Ma-ie Day festivals May 24.

The activities will open with a parade of floats and decorated cars, led by the Ma-ie Day princess candidates. Following the parade, athletic contests and games between the freshmen and the upper-classmen will be held in Elmwood park. Climax of the contests will be the baseball game, details of which are on page three.

The Ma-ie Day acts will begin at two o'clock in the auditorium. Thirteen organizations will compete for a gold cup to be awarded for the best act. Seven organizations will compete in the inter-Greek sing for another gold trophy. Between the acts there will be amateur performances.

Prizes of five and three dollars will be awarded to the winning contestants. Any student having musical, dancing, acting, or other entertainment ability is urged to turn in his name at the Dean of Students' office.

During intermission at the Ma-ie Day dance at Peony Park the Princess Attira VI will be announced in the coronation ceremony. Skippy Anderson's orchestra is playing for the dancing. Winners of the beauty contest held last February 27 at the convention of Cosmetologists and hair stylists will be announced. Prizes will be awarded for the best acts and sings, and for the best float in the parade.

Students will be admitted to the afternoon and evening entertainments upon the presentation of their activity cards. General admission tickets for the dance are available for 40c. These tickets are also good for admission to the afternoon activities. Special tickets for the afternoon program will be sold for 25c.

Three Hundred at History Meet

Three hundred historians attended the Mississippi Valley Historical Association meeting which was held in Omaha May 2, 3, and 4.

Highlight of the convention was the complimentary dinner and evening program given by the University. Avery Craven, University of Chicago, was the toastmaster at the banquet.

He was assisted by E. S. Dale of Oklahoma and John D. Hicks, University of Wisconsin.

Philip D. Jordan, of the University of Miami, gave a talk on Songs of the Times, 1830-1850. His lecture was illustrated by the University quartet consisting of Evelyn Glad, Ed Glad, Gloria Orosio, and Marvin Berlin.

Sister Schools Send Greetings, Visitors To Birthday Meet

Representatives of over thirty-five universities attended the anniversary ceremonies of the University last Monday, and anniversary greetings from eleven municipal universities were received by President Haynes.

Dr. G. W. Rosenlof addressed the public program in the university Monday evening on behalf of other universities. He is secretary of the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

Among the schools sending anniversary greetings to the University of Omaha was the College of Charleston, the oldest municipal university in the United States.

Greetings were received from Hunter College of the City of New York, Queens College, Flushing; New York; the University of Akron, the College of the City of New York, the University of Louisville, the University of the City of Toledo, Wayne University, Detroit, Michigan; the University of Cincinnati, the University of Huston, and the University of Wichita.

Richards of Central Wins Essay Contest On Hall of Fame

Yale Richards, Central high school student, was announced winner of the Hall of Fame essay contest by F. T. B. Martin at the anniversary program Monday, May 6.

As first prize Richards will receive a year's scholarship to the University. His essay nominated William D. Brown, Omaha pioneer settler who staked the first claim in the city, for the Hall of Fame.

Second and third prizes were won by Bob Havens, Benson High; and Nancy Freeman, North High.

Winners at each of the six high schools which participated in the contest are:

Central—Yale Richards, Irving Lashinsky, and Rosalie Wertheimer.

North—Nancy Freeman, June Jamison, and Vernon Bugh.

Benson—Bob Havens, Lawrence Brodkey, and Clifton Ross.

South—Dick Mills, Doris McCown, and Gerald Stile.

Technical—Nadine Roberts, Russell Peters, and Charles Erickson.

Sacred Heart—Rita McAleer, Josephine Flanagan, and Alice Saxton.

Dempster, Lueth In Stokowski Finals

The University was represented at the Stokowski orchestral contest finals by John Lueth, French hornist, and Fred Dempster, cellist. Although neither of the musicians was chosen, they were the last two persons to remain in the contest until the final decision was made in favor of a Lincoln girl.

General Assembly; Department Groups Preview Courses

President Rowland Haynes presided this morning at Preview Day, held to help facilitate registration next fall.

To aid in informing all students regarding the purposes and contents of courses in the University, Roderic B. Crane, assistant professor of business administration, and Dr. Wilfred Payne, professor of philosophy, discussed the Applied Education and General Education sections of the University.

Following the convocation period, students met with the heads of their departments for a discussion of what each department offers, cognate fields, the value of the course in respect to general training and training for specific fields of occupational endeavor, and plans for a course next year. The necessity of immediately consulting a counselor or advisor was emphasized.

"Y" Drive to Aid Chinese Nets $66

The drive to raise money for Chinese college students netted $66.23, about two-thirds of the $100 goal set by the University of Omaha Y.M. and Y.W.C.A.'s, joint sponsors of the campaign.

The drive opened Wednesday, April 24, with a Bowl of Rice supper for members of the two Y's and closed at noon, Thursday, May 2.

Failure to reach the goal was partly explained by a recent ruling prohibiting personal solicitations on the campus except for Community Chest.

Mary Miles and Charles Worley, presidents of the Y's, said, "We are well pleased with the success of the drive and wish to thank the student body and faculty for their splendid cooperation and wholehearted support."

Polls Open From Ten Till Three; Want Large Vote

Election of the Ma-ie Day Princess, Student Council representatives, and representatives to the Board of Student Publications will take place next Monday, May 13. Voting will take place in the ping-pong room from 10:00 a. m. until 3:00 p. m.

Candidates were nominated by student petitions and will appear on the ballot as follows:

Ma-ie Day Princess
Joyce Minteer, Marjorie Disbrow, Dorothy Shepherd, Jane Cook, Celia Lipsman.
Student Council Representatives
Freshmen

Girls: Edna Covert, Diana Hoogstraet, Elizabeth Koopman, Doris Premer, Betty Lou Anderson, Faye Graves, Magdalene Keller, Betty Burkhalter, Betty Jean Brown, Eleanor Wiese.

Boys: Harold Bremers, Bob Vickery, Clifford Pinkerton, James McGaffin, Jerry Thomas, Jack Gearhart, Richard Loomis, Phil H. Olson.

Sophomores
Girls: Etta Solref, Betty Leake, Marjorie Litherbury, Veronica Hahne, Roberta Carson, Dorothy Kimber, Bernice Premer, Naomi Eyre, Bettymae Shoemaker.

Boys: John Munt, Phil Krogh, Robert Claudius, Donald Pflasterer, Ronald Salyards, Roy Alley.

Student Publications
Nancy Button, Anna Borg, Charles Worley, Walter Peterson. Students from all classes vote for the Ma-ie Day Princess and the representatives to the Board of Student Publications, but Student Council representatives are elected only by the classes which they represent.

Any student taking twelve or more hours is eligible to vote.

Teachers Give Lunch

The foreign language teachers of the Omaha schools, of which group Miss Gertrude Kincaide is a member, sponsored a polyglot luncheon at Elmwood Park last Tuesday afternoon. Students of foreign languages were guests.

University Climaxes Anniversary Ceremonies With Announcement of Hall of Fame Selections

The University marked a decade of progress when it celebrated its tenth anniversary as a municipal institution Monday, May 6.

Highlight of the celebration was the announcement, at a public program in the evening, of the first ten honor citizens of the Hall of Fame.

Highlights of the celebration included a student honors convocation, anniversary dinner, addresses by prominent Omahans and educators, and the announcement, at a public program in the evening, of the first ten honor citizens of the Hall of Fame. Creation of the Omaha Hall of Fame was sponsored by the University.

The selections included the following ten persons:

William F. Baxter, former trustee, who helped the University get its municipal status, and was a substantial donor to the school when it was a private institution.

Bishop Robert H. Clarkson, to whom the Clarkson Hospital and the Trinity Cathedral are monuments.

Edward J. Cornish, who left behind him a living record of his work in developing Omaha's park system.

John A. Creighton, liberal contributor to Creighton University, builder of St. Joseph's Hospital.

Dr. Harold Gifford, internationally known surgeon, co-founder of the Omaha Medical College, responsible for Omaha's scenic River Drive.

Dr. Robert Gilder, newspaper man, artist, and archaeologist.

Senator Gilbert M. Hitchcock, founder of the Omaha World-Herald, National Senator.

Mrs. Sara Joslyn, liberal donor to the University, founder of the Joslyn Art Memorial.

Edward A. Rosewater, founder of the Omaha Bee, influential in gaining progress for education in Omaha.

Dr. John E. Summers, nationally and internationally famous as a surgeon.

Speakers at the evening program included W. C. Fraser, Walter Byrne, Rabbi Wice, and Robert Lasch, who discussed the development of Omaha and Nebraska during the past ten years.

President Rowland Haynes gave a brief review of the progress of the University during the past decade. The invocation was given by Dr. Larimore C. Denise, president of the Omaha Presbyterian seminary, and the benediction by Rev. A. A. Brooks, pastor of the First Methodist church. Dale Clark, chairman of the Board of Regents, presided.

The announcement of the Hall of Fame selections was made by F. T. B. Martin, past chairman of the board of regents. In announcing the selections Martin said, "We are celebrating the tenth anniversary of the University of Omaha as a municipal institution. We are likewise commemorating the founding of the University, shortly after the turn of the century, by public-spirited citizens who were active in furthering the development of Omaha."

"It has long been felt that some means should be adopted of honoring and preserving the names of the founders and builders of this city. It would, therefore, seem appropriate and fitting that the University of Omaha should assume this responsibility."

Speaking of the changes during the past decade in Nebraska, Robert Lasch, state editor of the World-Herald, declared, "During the decade in which the University of

Independents, Sophomores Sponsor Tonight's "Golden Spike Swing"

Come on out and get in the groove tonight, kids. Boogie woogie your cares away on the faculty parking lot, transformed by 350 colored lights (subdued), 200 lbs. of cornmeal, and a 15 piece colored orchestra into the smoothest dance floor west of Chicago.

Thrill to the exciting adventures of "Popeye the Bridge-Builder" or "Mickey Mouse, Bear Hunting," two of the five reels of motion pictures to be shown.

For those frivolous dido-cutters who take dancing strenuously and who need cooling off, there will be pop and ice cream stands as well as peanut, popcorn, and candy concessions.

Beards and Golden Spike costumes aren't required, but if you have 'em, wear 'em, and have an opportunity to win the prize to be awarded for the best outfit. During intermission you can swing your gal to the good, old-fashioned, rip-rarin', folk rhythms.

John Knudsen, sophomore class president, and Bob Unmack, president of the Independents, who are promoting the dance, have promised that the light will not be extended over the park.

Stag or drag, and have the time of your life. C'mon chillun, y'ea dance.

Tenth Anniversary

The University observed its Tenth Anniversary sans frolic and gaiety, choosing rather the collected calm of an Honors Convocation and a Hall of Fame to signalize that landmark. Instituted during a national movement toward the establishment of municipal universities, the University has preserved and utilized that progressive spirit.

"We have met the enemy, and they are ours." In a similar sense, we set and have attained certain objectives. An appraisal of our position finds that the University boasts credit recognition by sister institutions and takes pride that this has been achieved through a competent faculty, an excellent curriculum, and a fine building and library. Special recognition should also be given to the student body which played such a prominent role during the campaign for a new campus.

Not only should a Tenth Anniversary take stock of the past, but it should also be an occasion for contemplation of the future. To phrase it somewhat differently, the last ten years have witnessed the molding of the educational tools; and although the apex has not been realized in that respect, the consolidation of gains already made is, perhaps, the most important consideration of the immediate future. This involves intangible concepts rather than physical improvements.

Much of the responsibility rests upon the student body, for it only can take advantage of the scholastic opportunities and also develop a stronger sense of loyalty to the University. These two years in our new building have been ones of increased student enrollments and adjustment to that condition. Faced with the problem of a student body scattered over the city rather than concentrated upon the campus, there has, nevertheless, been a growing student pride in the University.

The machinery for a good education is here, and all should take advantage of it. If the past and present are any criteria, we can face the future and its problems with confidence in their ultimate solution.

On Trial

Next Monday the student body once again goes on trial. The evidence in the past has been highly incriminating. Monday's evidence may save us from the fate foreseen by the pessimistic . . . total disinterestedness on the part of the students in their rights and privileges.

This week being one during which we celebrate events in the history of the University, it might be appropriate to recall the gradual development of the role of the student in the government of his activities. As recently as last spring a new and more powerful Student Council constitution was adopted by the students; however, its value can be fully realized only when enforced by a dependable and aggressive Council.

Upon the vote of every student rests the decision as to the character of the Council. Elsewhere in this issue you can find the lists of candidates for offices. In the past less than fifty per cent of the student population has voted. If every student will realize his responsibility as a voter and will cooperate in the intelligent and serious choice of future office-holders, we can hope for truly effective student government by representatives worthy of the honor accorded them.

It Parade

Forestry, Secretarial Work Ambitions of 'Its'

A bus. ad. major who would like to do conservation and forestry work and a work study student with ambitions toward a job as private secretary top our "It" parade of the week. They are Bob (Lanny) Landstrom and Mary Voss.

Mary, a junior, has served as both corresponding and recording secretary of her sorority, Kappa Psi Delta, was elected treasurer of Feathers last year and is now recording secretary. She belongs to W. A. A. and was a candidate for "O" Club Sweetheart last year. A secret ambition to own a greenhouse and raise orchids for study and enjoyment began when she took botany in her sophomore year of high school. Collecting wild flowers and match folders, writing letters and knitting rank high as hobbies and she likes dancing, tennis, sailing and people who are "screwballs."

Remembers Boat Trips

Outstanding events in her life are her summer trips to Portland, Oregon, where she once lived, and her most thrilling moment was sailing a boat by herself for the first time. She yearns for a pretty shade of red hair and has a desire to learn to ski, or climb a mountain.

For relaxation she likes detective stories. "Gone With the Wind" and "Magnificent Obsession" are favorite movies. James Stewart leads her list of admired actors, and her pet peeve is the mistake people always make in spelling her middle name, Elisabeth, with a "z."

Lanny Prexy of Phi Sigs

Lanny, a senior, was elected president of his frat, Phi Sigma Phi, for this semester and has served as vice-president. He was a member of the student council during his sophomore year and served as vice-president of the junior class. He likes any kind of sports, especially hunting, softball, and golf, and was on the intramural sports council.

One of the most thrilling experiences in Lanny's life came in 1937 when he was in the Ma-ie Day act which won first place. He thought "Destry Rides Again" and "The Thin Man" were swell shows, and Myrna Loy is his favorite actress. He likes Bing Crosby's singing and his pet peeve is a girl who smokes. His hobbies are centered around sports and he has a suppressed desire to get a good grade in one of Professor Crane's classes.

Gatesqueaks

Between showers this week the column was written, but long past are the days when getting stuck in the parking lot was a good excuse for getting home late. . . . And speaking of absent-minded professors, Dean Bradfield and wife were invited to attend the Inter-sorority dance, so they went to Peony for the occasion. The pleasure of the night was shattered when they finally learned that the O. U. dance was at the Chermot.

News Flash!!!! It's rumored that Jerry Dutcher may go to Omaha U., thrill, thrill. . . . Evie Glad is sitting on top of the world, and it isn't only because of her new job. . . . The Thetas didn't seem to appreciate Dr. Stastny's anti-kissing lecture for women, but we guess the reform wasn't too successful. . . . We hear that Don likes his girls Junge; his current protege started at fifteen.

Guess the pre-med's who are being rushed by medical fraternities have learned a new game called "Rat-Racing" but you can't fool us, it's got something to do with women. . . . New romances on the campus (going steady and otherwise) are Betty Voboril and Art Bradley, Lorraine Karlquist and Jay Beecroft, Susie Howard and Ned Skow, Dorothy Kimber and Vernon Olson, Joe Dawson and "Wally Stewart."

The Phi Deltas were sort of chagrined when Elinore Worrell announced she was serving hot dogs and beer at sorority meeting. Hot dogs and root beer were served, darn it. . . . A great dane dog, five feet tall, called Angel, owned by Johnny Knudsen, is the new Theta mascot. . . . And speaking of mascots, a blonde seems to have cornered Bub Bilby, Gamma's b.f., Oppido is still the Kappa man, and George Rehschuh belongs to the Phi Deltas.

Beverly Sistek attended a Pre-med party minus Harold McKenna. . . . Ginnie Lundquist and Dick Reed seemed to have broken up. . . . Four disappointed girls, a slumber party and no fellow showed up. . . . And these guys who cut off their hair to spite their face. . . . Why doesn't Jimmy O'Neil know a good thing when he sees her?

What's this about Abram Dansky's new romance? . . . Danny Houston did a pretty good job of breaking up the affair between Peggy Holmes and Bob Bussing, but anything can happen. . . . Barbara Hatfield, one of Henry Fonda's choices for campus beauties, is coming back to town and maybe back to school. . . . Why did the Pi O's lose their volleyball game Monday? They say it's love, (respectively). . . . And remember it isn't the approach that counts—it's the getaway.

O U KNOW

By Hank

Of all the students honored at Monday's convocation there is one who deserves special mention. Dragica Zaplotnik, who is spending her first year in an English-speaking country, managed to pull down grades high enough to put her on the Dean's Honor list.

If "Honors" were awarded on the basis of energy expended, all who took the honors examinations would qualify through the amount of worrying done.

As each left his respective group to go to the exam, the atmosphere would become positively funereal. Maternity ward waiting-rooms are calm and peaceful places compared to the meeting places of friends who awaited the emergence of the examinees.

Dr. Hicks at the Honors Convocation: "I think there are no greater boundaries in the academic world than those professors who advocate the abolition of examinations."

Same source: "Democracy is like a raft . . . you can't sink it, but damit your feet are always in the water."

A couple of bright young freshmen are hoaxing Dr. Williams, who daily looks at their watches to see when the class period is over. They now set their watches five to ten minutes fast.

Dr. Williams, when he reads the above: "They don't seem to realize that they are merely depriving themselves of ten minutes of enlightenment."

We heard of a new method of working one's way through college when the following announcement came over the P.A. system: "Any boys who would like to dig dandelions during their free periods should report to the Work-Study office."

For the benefit of doodlers, telephone booths in Willard Straight Hall at Cornell university were recently equipped with blackboards, chalk and erasers.

And troubleshooters investigating faulty 'phones in booths at a Stanford frat house found the coin boxes full of water. The boys had gotten some coin-shaped molds and had frozen their slugs.

Speaking of slugs, it's worth a couple to watch the face of the "Canteen" collector when he opens the coin boxes.

Mr. Frye, that handsome young prof from Cincinnati, is the third of our faculty to lose his bachelor standing this year.

We couldn't imagine what despicable dog a couple of coeds were speaking of in the hall the other day. We heard phrases such as "I hate him" and "He stinks." Much to our relief we noticed that they were just outside the door of the Natural Science lab . . . rats, you know.

And after the lab Liz Stewart popped into the office to moan, "We can't find our brain anywhere!"

It might have been (but we doubt it) one of the boys who reported who was responsible for the sweet gift found on Dr. Heckman's desk recently . . . a Schlitz beer bottle (no beer) filled with dandelion blossoms and attached to a note saying:

"Roses are red,
Violets are blue,
We killed the beer,
The dandelions are for you."

The note was 'signed' "Abram Dansky and Frances Walroth."

BULL SESSION

(Short letters are most apt to be used. Deadline is Tuesday. Since the Gateway accepts no responsibility for statements made in BULL SESSION, letters signed by nom de plumes should be accompanied by the authors' real names.)

MORE ON CULTURE

Editor: A contributor to BULL SESSION writing under the caption "German Culture" took exception to some remarks by Miss Benessee. I think Miss Slenker missed the whole issue, from her remarks about some "enterprising Scandinavian" raising "a howl" and the lack of comment about the achievements of the Oriental nations.

The fact that Miss Slenker failed to grasp was simply that so much unfavorable comment has been made about the present German government and its foreign and domestic policies that it is altogether too easy to forget the great contributions that individual Germans have made to the welfare and the progress of humanity.

This should not be construed to mean that the obviously inhuman actions and teachings of the Nazis should not be exposed and condemned. Nevertheless a large number of people, remembering the good that has been accomplished by Germans, believe that it also should be publicized.

The writer of "German Culture" incorrectly interpreted Miss Benessee's remarks "relative to the absence of German culture in the Humanities lectures." The latter's statements should not be considered a criticism of the Humanities course. It is simply a good illustration of her point that there is a regrettable lack of credit given to the accomplishments of Germans.

ADOLESCENCE

Editor: The introspectively imagined increase in prestige which accompanies a student's entrance into a university is usually considerably heightened by the presence of a school publication which voices the views and opinions of the student body, whether individually or collectively.

It is with considerable hesitance that I mention the lack of editorial maturity which should unquestionably be an attribute of any college paper if other papers can be used as criteria. Most other college publications receive much more interest from the student body than does the GATEWAY, and the only tangible reason for this is the aforementioned, adolescent editorials.

This condition can be rectified only by a more comprehensive tally of student interests and, in turn, editorials and articles in consistency with these.

Helen Gentry's Printing Success New Proof of Feminine Ability

By Margie Litherbury

Once again a woman has entered a man's field and has overcome the obstacles presented by tradition, physical requirements and technical training. The unusual exhibition of printing and book design in the second floor exhibition case is proof of the success of its originator, small and feminine Helen Gentry.

Interested mainly in children's books, Miss Gentry has always maintained as her creed that books for any purpose should be beautifully done. The outstanding characteristics of her work are her love for traditional types and pure letter form and her use of free ornament.

She first became interested in printing through her marriage to David Greenwood in 1923. The next few years she gained knowledge and experience, although lacking equipment and cash.

She gradually turned to the production of children's books and by 1935 had established a national reputation after her first two juveniles, "The Nightingale" and "Rip Van Winkle," were placed among the "Fifty Books of the Year." These books are chosen by the American Institute of Graphic Arts, which is sponsoring the exhibition now at the University.

After this success with her juvenile books, Miss Gentry established in New York a printing and publishing venture called Holiday House. Books which appeared with Holiday House imprint were distinguished with a flair for design and variety seldom seen among the typographic fraternity. She constantly adds individualism to her work by introducing small original touches.

A member of the Institute, Dr. Lane knew Miss Gentry when she was working in her tiny quarters in San Francisco. He believes that "she has kept her idealism and uniqueness and has become an important influence on other publishers of children's books."

Tracksters Impress by Placing in Ten Events in Three Meets

By Homer Starr

In its three meets this season, the Indian track team has come up with win, place, or draw in ten events, a much better than average showing, considering that one of the meets was the hard-contested Drake Relays.

Outstanding units of the team to date have been the quarter- and half-mile relay team, composed of Bob Matthews, Don Pflasterer, Dick Beal, and either Gil Schrage or Don Grote; Dick Beal in the century dash, and Don Grote in broad jump.

Beal has twice tasted victory in the hundred yard sprint with a ten-second mark, while Grote and Kritner have nailed three blue ribbons between them. The former got his by captaining himself through 22 feet, 2 inches of Cedar Falls atmosphere, and by springing over a 5 foot, 10 1/2 inch barrier at Sioux Falls; the latter, by hurling the discus 128 feet, 8 1/2 inches.

At the Dakota Relays last Friday, the tracksters impressed their followers with three firsts, a second, and two thirds. Grote topped the high jumpers and wound up second in the broad jump. Beal's moccasins singed the cinders over 100 yards in ten seconds. The 440 and 880 relays brought in third places.

Coach Hartman sent five men to Des Moines April 27 to vie against the nation's top-notchers at the Drake relays. Schrage, Matthews, Grate, Pflasterer, and Beal represented the Indians. Beal finished fifth in his heat of the hundred yard dash prelims.

Grote and Beal headed Omaha's delegation to Cedar Falls for the season's opener in the Iowa Teachers' Relays. These two men won the broad jump and the century sprint, while the relay team nabbed third in both the quarter and half mile events.

Haynes Throws First Ball to Start Frosh Soph Ma-ie Day Tilt

Baseball fans will get a big treat Ma-ie Day when sophomores and freshmen will decide the matter of athletic class supremacy on the Elmwood Park diamond. President Rowland Hayes, in the traditional presidential manner, will throw out the ball to start the game.

The game, a nine-inning event, begins at 10:30. Seniors will act as umpires. The players will be in uniforms and the umps will be dressed in white. Captain for the sophomores is Roy Moran; for the freshmen, Frank Catania.

Bleacher seats will be provided for about seven hundred. Other erections are a public address system, and a score board.

For a half hour before the game starts there will be relay races, tug-of-wars, slipper kicking for the girls, etc. The baseball game, however, is the major contest between the classes this year.

Baller, Diamond at Phys. Ed. Convention

Coach Stuart Baller, and Miss Ruth Diamond, head of the department of physical education for women, represented the University at the National Physical Education convention in Chicago recently.

The new technique of visual education was demonstrated to the members. This is using motion pictures to coach almost every known form of athletics. Highlight of the convention was a speech by Branch Rickey, president of the St. Louis Cardinals, at the main banquet Thursday night.

The main business of the convention included speeches by recognized physical education authorities.

South Table Tennis Wind up in First Place in Tourney

By Harry Melby

The winnah! The South ping-pongers ended the tournament in a class by themselves and that class was the first one. South started in the second place position, then jumped up to first and held that spot until the end of the tournament.

The second placers were the powerful North-Benson outfit who zoomed up from fourth position at the tournament's half way mark to second in the finals.

Two teams tied for third, Technical and Central. Central has been in the third berth since the start and managed to hold its own. Technical has been the strongest competition for South's first spot since the beginning, but the Technocrats folded after the fourth round.

Lacking only two points to be one of the high teams, Outstate finished the race in fourth place. The Outstaters boasted such mighty ping-pongers as Poogach and Matthews, but couldn't show.

Trailing along were the Phi Sigs in fifth place, the Alpha Sigs in sixth, the Thetas in seventh, and the Betas in a blank eighth position. The four frats held the four low spots throughout the tourney.

Girls Compete for Places on O. U. Archery Team for National Tourney

Four winners of the Women's Columbia Round archery contest played here will be entered in the National Intercollegiate Archery association contest. The final tournament will be played and announced by telegraph. Its sponsors are members of the National Archery Association.

The Columbia Round consists of shooting twenty-four arrows at three distances, fifty yards, forty yards, and thirty yards. The girls competing for places are Delia Brewster, Marjorie Vanecek, Jayne Fee, Bette Shoemaker, Sally Robinson, Janice Jepson, Dorothy Sandstrom, Susanne Howard, Betty Ingram, Betty Kinney, Lois Denton, Pat Bowman, and Mildred Nielson.

Over One Hundred in Baseball Tourney

Over one hundred Greeks and Barbs have seen action in the newly-organized Intramural Baseball league, although ten of the first twenty-two games have been rained out. The innovation seems to be popular with everyone except the weatherman.

Art Gunderson's North-Benson squad topped the standings on Thursday morning, their perfect record in four games being attributable to the "stingy" pitching of Brown, as well as to an alert defense capped by Perlman at catcher and to an attack, sparked by infielder Waterman, which seems to be able to produce runs without the aid of hits.

Up to now, the pitchers have lorded it over the club-wielders, most of the games having been decided by strike-outs. Brown, who has been the most effective flinger so far, has whiffed thirty-six men in twenty innings; and among his rival twirlers, Griffith, Watson, Rheder and Mazzeri have been "setting 'em down" on "stuh-riks" at similar rates.

It is not likely, however, that this condition will continue, as stick-work has already shown considerable improvement over the earlier games; and if the bat supply holds out (two were broken in succession Wednesday) the number of long hits should mount rapidly.

Postponed games are to be played off on Fridays and after the fifteenth of this month. Present plans call for the playoffs for the final championship to be held during the week of the 20-24.

Standings (including games of Wednesday):

	W.	L.	Games Behind

Glad Tops Fencers

University student fencing instructor Ed Glad won first place in the men's senior foils event at the second annual Nebraska amateur fencing tourney, held in Omaha recently.

Varsity Tennis Team Loses First Contests

There was a good turnout for the varsity tennis team and out of the experienced prospects Bill Pangle, Dwain Conner, Jack Heafey, and Art Cohn were chosen.

The Omaha Tennis club courts are being used for practices and all varsity competition. Two intercollegiate meets have been held, one with Peru State Teachers and one with Midland. In both meets the Indian Raquetters were defeated.

At Peru the Indians were subdued to a five to one setback while at Midland the Redmen lost by a four to two decision.

Golfers Still Have One Meet With Peru

The golfers were the low pointers in their match with Midland and tied with the Peru Tutors. The final tilt with Peru will be on May 13. At Midland the match ended eight and two while at Peru there was a tie at six and six.

According to Harold Johnk, tennis and golf coach, the boys thought they might go to the conference meet but now seem to have given up hope.

Hall of Fame Selections Told at Tenth Anniversary Program

Omaha has marked steady progress, the crop failures and drouth have set in motion profound changes in Nebraska agriculture."

He pointed out that the past ten years have seen new crops being raised in the state, new methods of plowing, planting, and cover farming to preserve moisture have been put in practice, and crop irrigation has been expanded to more than a million acres.

W. C. Fraser outlined a steady growth in the city's industry and commerce, despite adverse conditions. He listed extensive business and civic construction, opening of a large brewing industry, construction of the South Omaha bridge, purchase of the Douglas Street bridge by Ak-Sar-Ben, opening of the Missouri to navigation, the coming of the streamline trains, establishment of two federal housing projects, and the addition of many industrial establishments to Omaha.

Walter Byrne listed advances in education, which included the development of better trained teacher staffs, advent of new teaching techniques, expansion of the adult education program, and increased efforts to meet the demand for vocational training.

Rabbi Wice outlined the agencies contributing to the cultural development of Omaha. He told of the importance of the schools, churches, the library, and various literary and musical groups which encourage the democratic interchange of ideas.

With The Clubs

SIGMA PI PHI

Dr. Homer Anderson will be the speaker at the next meeting of Sigma Phi Phi on Wednesday evening at 7:30 in the student lounge. Election of officers will be held.

FEATHERS

The annual rush picnic of Feathers was held Tuesday afternoon from 4-6 o'clock. Due to bad weather the party was held in the auditorium. There were 50 rushers. Dorothy Kimber was in charge.

The officers elected for the coming year are Ruth Erkman, president; Ann Borg, vice-president; Ahuvah Gershater, corresponding secretary; Mary Voss, recording secretary; and Betty Mae Shoemaker, treasurer.

Ruth Erkman, University junior, was chosen president of Phi Sigma Chi, national pep fraternity at the annual spring convention held at Lawrence, Kansas. Omaha University Feathers will be hostesses to the convention next spring.

W.A.A.

At a picnic on May 1, the W.A.A. held its election of officers. Helen Coulter was elected president; Margaret Moon, vice-president; Ann Borg, secretary; and Jackie Leffingwell, treasurer. Members of the Board are Jane Pope, Ahuvah Gershater, Betty Bennett, Jean Petersen, Claire Howes, Ruth Galloway, June Rose Anderson, Jean Griffith, Alice Ovington, Etta Soiref, Betty Mae Shoemaker, Adele Egner, and Bernice Premer.
